

Sagar Panchal

sap586@nyu.edu extbullet +1 (607) 314-0114 extbullet Binghamton, NY

EDUCATION

---

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

---

|                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|
| Software Engineer III - Automationextit Universal Instruments                                                                                                                                   | Sep 2022 – Present  |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Built wafer-to-board mapping system.</li><li>• Developed Selective Placement logic.</li><li>• Integrated Cognex QuickBuild with MCOS and QBIT workflows.</li></ul> |                     |
| Automation Engineerextit Nor-Cal Controls                                                                                                                                                       | Jan 2022 – Jul 2022 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Worked with Ignition SCADA, GE PLC, SEL-RTAC and Red Lion systems.</li></ul>                                                                                       |                     |
| Software Engineer - Machine Automationextit Mini-Circuits                                                                                                                                       | Feb 2018 – Nov 2021 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Built enterprise applications for engineering teams.</li></ul>                                                                                                     |                     |
| Design Engineerextit Prima Automation                                                                                                                                                           | Jun 2014 – Jan 2016 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Designed electrical and control panels.</li><li>• Created electrical schematics using E-Plan.</li></ul>                                                            |                     |
| Developer Internextit RevMax Fleet Optimization                                                                                                                                                 | Sep 2017 – Dec 2017 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Improved data consistency and backend transfers.</li></ul>                                                                                                         |                     |